BhoomiCheck

Understand Documents. Identify Risks. Verify Before You Invest.

Upload property papers. BhoomiCheck reads them, compares them against each other, and points out what to verify before you pay or sign.

1. Read

Reads PDFs and photos, including scanned and Hindi documents, and finds names, numbers, dates and amounts with their page.

2. Compare

Checks whether names, Khasra numbers, area, boundaries, dates and the chain of ownership agree across documents.

3. Verify

Lists what needs checking, where to check it, the law behind it, and when a lawyer is needed.

Start: upload documents

What BhoomiCheck is not: it does not certify ownership or say a property is safe. It works from your uploaded papers, not government or court records. Please use a qualified lawyer for the final decision.

Works with

Sale Deeds · Agreements to Sell · Rent and Lease Agreements · Gift and Partition Deeds · Mutation Records · Khasra, Khatauni and Jamabandi · Encumbrance Certificates · Property Tax Receipts · Power of Attorney · NOCs · RERA documents

BhoomiCheck gives preliminary document assistance. It is not legal advice and does not certify title or ownership. Have a qualified property lawyer verify the documents, and check the original records, before you pay or sign.

What it cannot tell you

- Extracted ownership information is what the documents state. It has not been independently verified.
- Mutation is not conclusive proof of title.
- Property tax receipts do not conclusively establish title.
- An Encumbrance Certificate may not reveal every possible claim.
- A registered document does not automatically establish a perfect title.
- A document that was not uploaded may still exist. Its absence here proves nothing.
- BhoomiCheck never says a property is 100% safe, has guaranteed clear title, has certified ownership, or has no litigation.
- For inheritance, ownership conflicts, litigation, suspected forgery and serious title questions, please go to a qualified lawyer.
